I. Exhaustion:

The enactment of the PLRA in 1996 imposed two filing requirements: Filing fees, 28 U.S.C §1915 and exhaustion of administrative remedies, 42 U.S.C § 1997(e). Both state for “prisoners”, that the definition of “prisoner” for the purposes of these provisions of the PLRA is explicit. As used in 28 U.S.C §1915, the term “prisoner” mean any person incarcerated or detained in any facility who is accused of, convicted of, sentenced for, or adjudicated delinquent for, violations of criminal law or the terms and conditions of parole, probation, pretrial release, or diversionary program. In 42 U.S.C § 1997(e) identical language is used. The Sexually Violent Predation Act (“SVPA”) provides not for criminal sanctions (Cal Welf. & Inst. Code §6600), but for the civil commitment of an individual. The Ninth Circuit in Page v Torrey 201 F.3d 1136; holds these two PLRA requirements do not apply to civil commitment or detainees.

II. Premise

This complaint alleges that the defendants, in their individual capacities, while acting under the color of state law, have created and maintain conditions of confinement to which the Plaintiff is subjected to and that these conditions of confinement are in violation of statutory and decisional laws found. See California Code of Regulations (CCR) Title 9, §§880-884: United States Supreme Court in Bell v Wolfish, 441 US 520, 537-539 and Young v Romero, 457 US 307, 32-322; the Ninth Circuit Court in two cases. Jones v Blanas, 393 F.3d 918 (2004) and King v County of Los Angeles (9th. Cir. 2018) 885 F.3d 548. By and though these violations of statutory and decisional laws, defendants have, and continue to, violated Plaintiff's Due Process rights under the Fourteenth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

III. Parties

- 1) Plaintiff, Joshua [REDACTED] who resides at 24511 W. Jayne Ave., Coalinga California 93210 alleges that his civil rights were violated by the action(s) of the below named individuals. The actions were directed towards this plaintiff while confined at Coalinga State Hospital as a pre-commitment civil detainee under California Welfare and Institution Code (WIC) §§6600-6604 from October 2017 to present.

1 Defendants

2) Defendant One, Stephanie Clendenin, while working for the California Department of State 3 Hospitals (DSH) at 1600 9th street, Sacramento, California 98814, with the title of Director of the 4 Department of State Hospitals, in her individual capacity, having duties that consist of, but not 5 limited to: establish a list of property or items civil patients are not allowed to have (WIC §7295 6 (b)); have the Director of each hospital (in the case Brandon Price, Defendant Two) establish a 7 list of disallowed property (WIC §7295 (c))/ review and give final approval disallowing property 8 and maintain conditions for civil patients so they do not become punitive in nature. For condition 9 not to become punitive in nature requires that the Defendant makes sure that any denial of an item 10 is in accordance with CCR, Title 9, §§880-884 and that the objective of any denial be not based 11 on an element of punishment such as deterrence, of something already a crime or retribution, 12 because of the acts of others. Also, such a denial cannot be based on wholly speculative 13 perditions of safety and security problems. Defendant must insure Plaintiff's conditions are less 14 restrictive as a civil detainee than that of a prisoner. Defendant further by statutory law must provide 15 Plaintiff with treatment that helps obtain personal liberty and independence (Cal. Welf. & Inst.
16 Code §§5325.1(a)).

3) Defendant Two, Brandon Price, working for the California Department of State Hospitals as 17 Executive Director of Coalinga State Hospital, residing at 24511 W. Jayne Ave., Coalinga 18 California 93210 in his individual capacity, having duties that consist of, but not limited to:
19 establish a list of property or items civil patients are not allowed to have (WIC §7295 (c)); submit 20 the list to the Director of State Hospitals (in the case Stephanie Clendenin, Defendant One) for 21 final approval disallowing property and maintain conditions for civil patients so they do not 22 become punitive in nature. For condition not to become punitive in nature requires that the 23 Defendant makes sure that any denial of an item is in accordance with CCR, Title 9, §§880-884 24 and that the objective of any denial be not based on an element of punishment, such as deterrence 25 of something already a crime or retribution, because of the acts of others. Also, such a denial 26 cannot be based on wholly speculative perditions of safety and security problems. Defendant 27 must insure Plaintiff's conditions are less restrictive as a civil detainee than that of a prisoner.
28 Defendant further by statutory law must provide Plaintiff with treatment that helps obtain personal liberty and independence (Cal. Welf. & Inst. Code §§5325.1(a)).

1 IV. Supporting Facts:

3 4)Prisoners in California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR) are given by 4 CDCR, internet capable devices and internet access. This program allows prisoners a better 5 quality of life, a greater chance to successfully reintegrate back into society upon release, with a 6 higher probability or rehabilitation. Defendants have not adopted the above program or anything 7 like it for the Plaintiff.
- 8
9 5)Patients under the same civil process as this Plaintiff (WIC) that are out on conditional release, 9 (meaning still in custody and treatment) have individualized conditions that allow the Patient to 10 have internet capable devices and internet access (e.g. computers, smart phones and gaming 11 devices). Defendants have denied Plaintiff the same individualized conditions to this Plaintiff.
- 12 6)Parolees still under the constructive custody of CDCR, have individualized conditions of parole 13 that allow them electronic devices (e.g. computers, recordable disks, memory devices, smart 14 phones, gaming devices, internet access and more). Defendants have denied this Plaintiff the 15 same individualized conditions.
- 16 7)CDCR prisoners are allowed to purchase and wear personal clothing. Defendants have denied 17 Plaintiff to own and wear the same selective type of personal clothing prisoners are allowed 18 despite WIC §5325 (a).
- 19
20 8)CDCR offers prisoners industry standard Vocational Education and Academic Education classes 21 which provide marketable skills for the prisoners upon release. Defendants do not offer similar 22 training and education opportunities or marketable skills to help Plaintiff succeed in society upon 23 release. In fact, Defendants over the years have cut the few programs they did have. Defendant 24 further gives far less money to a patient when they leave the hospital back into society than 25 prisoners get. CDCR through parole offices give parolees funds as need to help with housing and 26 other expenses to make it. Defendants do not offer anything to help a patient released back into 27 society to succeed.
- 28 9)Coalinga State Hospital (CSH) used to allow nutritional supplements for patients. The approval 28 was individually based though the Patient's Treatment Team, which includes medical personal.

1 CSH has disallowed all supplements and made it a blanket denial instead of being based on the 2 individual and going through the Treatment Team of the Patient.

3 10) From October 2017 or solely looking at the last four years to the present, Plaintiff has 4 experienced a growing list of disallowed property/items based on defendant's speculative 5 assertion of a need to deter acts that are already criminal in nature and/or "safety and security" 6 issues. Defendants continually employ the term "safety and security" outside the authorized 7 definition of the terms per CCR Title 9, §880. The causation for this redaction of allowable 8 property/items has not been individualized to the Plaintiff.

9 11) The CSH patient phone system in the Plaintiff's housing unit does not give this Plaintiff 10 reasonable access to make or receive confidential phone calls when needed.

11 12) CSH package program over the last several years has become more restrictive and is now 13 similar to the package program implemented by CDCR for prisoners.

14 13) Defendants for the whole time the Plaintiff has been at CSH or solely looking at the last four 15 years, have failed to provide this Plaintiff with adequate treatment to address his alleged mental 16 disorder, that which allegedly makes him a risk to the public. Plaintiff thus has not been given a 17 reasonable expectation to regain his freedom. Plaintiff's confinement has gone for a priority of 18 forensic treatment, to a non-forensic facility of just confinement. The inadequate treatment is a 19 constitutional issue rather than a statutory issue. Defendants have closed ancillary groups that 20 have been recommended to treat each of the Plaintiff Dynamic Risk Factors. Defendants rotate 21 facilitators from group to group regularly causing disruption in treatment. Defendants allow 22 facilitators to end a group early or close the group for the day so the facilitators can attend or do 23 administrative duties. Making treatment a non-priority. Defendants on paper state adequate 24 treatment is provided, but as to what is supposed to be provided according to Defendants and 25 what is actually happening in the groups is two different things. Furthermore, there is a disconnect 26 between what the Department of State Hospitals evaluators think the treatment is like an offered 27 at CSH and what is actually offered or continually changing. This does not give the Plaintiff a fair 28 evaluation when the evaluators come to CSH and update Plaintiff's evaluations. At CSH there is a shortage of facilitators, groups and hours of treatment have diminished. Defendants treatment program that has been provided for the Plaintiff since he has been here or at least in the last four

1 years is far below recommendations found in "Sex Offender Civil Commitment Program 2 Network" (SOCCPN). SOCCPN gathers information from sex offender civil commitment 3 programs in 19 different states, including staff qualifications and ratios, phase description, hours 4 of treatment, etc., and determines generally accepted practices by calculation an acceptable range 5 based on the information gathered. Information used by Federal courts as a guidelines as to 6 effective treatment standards. (See. Howe v Godinez, et all., US District Court, S.D. Illinois, Case 7 No. 13-cv-844-SMY, Sept. 2021). Defendants' treatment program fails as to the ratio of facilitators, hours of treatment per week and other categories.

8 14) Plaintiff being in treatment group(s) when held or offered has been and is restricting his 9 ability to obtain his personal liberty.

10 15) The structure of the groups Plaintiff is in has not let the Plaintiff in the past and present, 11 present his assignments every week or every month. Plaintiff's personal treatment is and has bee 12 stalled and not moving forward at a reasonable speed. Group(s) is getting more restrictive.

14 16) Groups Plaintiff is in or has been in have consistently cancel sessions with a ratio that is 15 unreasonable. These groups also in a consistent manner, cancel sessions early or start late in a 16 manner that is also unreasonable.
17

18 V. Causes of Actions

19 Cause One:

20 17) Plaintiff re-alleges the allegation contained in paragraphs 4-12, inclusive to this complaint.

22 18) As a direct result in Defendant, Stephanie Clendenin Director acting under the color of the 23 authority the state has granted her as the Director of DSH, Clendenin is tortuously liable in her 24 individual capacity in that she has created and maintained Plaintiffs conditions of confinement 25 such that they are punitive in nature as to each of the paragraphs herein. Furthermore, each 26 paragraph shows where Clendenin failed to adhere to the mandates of CCR Title 9, §§880-884 in 27 that her actions reflect a blanket application to all patients without any individualized 28 consideration to the Plaintiff. Clendenin has failed to follow state and federal statutory and decisional laws as each paragraph illustrates the punitive nature of her action where Clendenin's

1 objective was/is to deter conduct already addressed by Penal Code statutes or in retribution based 2 on action of other patients. Each restriction is supported by a speculative need for “safety and 3 security” where this term is used loosely and not in accordance with CCR Title 9, §§880-884, but 4 instead is used as CDCR does for its prisoners (prisoners can be subjected to conditions 5 amounting to punishment). Clendenin has failed to insure Plaintiff conditions of confinement are 6 less restrictive than prisoners and failed to take less restrictive options. All statutory and 7 decisional laws cited herein are well established and it is reasonable to expect that Clendenin 8 is/was aware that they exist and that she is/was not in compliance. The foregoing is the moving 9 force of violations of Plaintiffs Due Process right protected under the Fourteenth Amendment of the U. S. Constitution.

10 Cause Two:

11 19) Plaintiff re-alleges the allegation contained in paragraphs 4-12, inclusive to this complaint.

12 20) As a direct result, Defendant, Brandon Price, Executive Director of Coalinga State Hospital
13 acting under the color of the authority the state has granted him as Executive Director of Coalinga 14 State Hospital, Price is tortuously liable in his individual capacity in that he has created and 15 maintained Plaintiffs conditions of confinement such that they are punitive in nature as to each of 16 the paragraphs herein. Furthermore, each paragraph shows where Price failed to adhere to the 17 mandates of CCR Title 9, §§880-884 in that his actions reflect a blanket application to all patients 18 without any individualized consideration to the Plaintiff. Price has failed to follow state and 19 federal statutory and decisional laws as each paragraph illustrates the punitive nature of his 20 actions where Price’s objective was/is to deter conduct already addressed by Penal Code statutes 21 or in retribution based on action of other patients. Each restriction is supported by a speculative 22 need for “safety and security” where this term is used loosely and not in accordance with CCR 23 Title 9, §§880-884, but instead is used as CDCR does for its prisoners (prisoners can be subjected 24 to conditions amounting to punishment). Price has failed to insure Plaintiff conditions of 25 confinement are less restrictive than prisoners and failed to take less restrictive options. All 26 statutory and decisional laws cited herein are well established and it is reasonable to expect that 27 Price is/was aware that they exist and that she is/was not in compliance. The foregoing is the 28 moving force of violations of Plaintiffs Due Process right protected under the Fourteenth Amendment of the U. S. Constitution.

1 Cause Three:

- 2 21) Plaintiff re-alleges the allegation contained in paragraphs 13-16, inclusive to this complaint.
- 3
- 4 22) As a direct result in Defendant, Stephanie Clendenin Director acting under the color of the
- 5 authority the state has granted her as the Director of DSH, Clendenin is tortuously liable in her
- 6 individual capacity in that she has created a treatment program that is inadequate, and that does
- 7 not give this Plaintiff a reasonable expectation to obtain his liberty. (See Cal. Welfare & Inst.
- 8 Codes §5325.1(a) and §7503)

9 Cause Four:

- 10
- 11 23) Plaintiff re-alleges the allegation contained in paragraphs 13-16, inclusive to this complaint.
- 12
- 13 24) As a direct result, Defendant, Brandon Price, Executive Director of Coalinga State Hospital
- 14 acting under the color of the authority the state has granted him as Executive Director of Coalinga
- 15 State Hospital, Price is tortuously liable in her individual capacity in that he has created a
- 16 treatment program that is inadequate, and that does not give this Plaintiff a reasonable expectation
- 17 to obtain his liberty. (See Cal. Welfare & Inst. Codes §5325.1(a) and §7503)

VI. Request For Relief

- 25) I the Plaintiff believe and request I am entitled to the following specific reliefs:

 - (1) Award damages as to Cause of Action One in the amount of $250,000
 - (2) Award damages as to Cause of Action Two in the amount of $250,000
 - (3) Award damages as to Cause of Action Three in the amount of $250,000
 - (4) Award damages as to Cause of Action Four in the amount of $250,000
 - (5) Allow amendment as the court deems fit.
 - (6) Allow appointment of counsel when the court deems fit.
 - (7) Award any other damages the court deems fit or appropriate.
 - (8) Order any other injunctions the court deems appropriate to protect both state and federal constitutional rights.

VII. Request For Injunction Relief

- 26) In paragraphs 4-14 of this complaint, each paragraph shows a specific and factual condition, well established that each condition is punitive in nature. Each cause of action clearly states each Defendant failed in their individual capacities relating to each condition from these paragraphs.

27) Defendants as to each of these conditions failed to follow statutory and decisional laws. Specifically, failed to follow statutory and decisional laws where they knew, or reasonably should have known, these laws existed. Specifically, the disallowance of property not in accordance with the mandates set forth in CCR Title 9 §§880-884 that require such denials be individually based.

28) Conditions complained of as to each paragraph, were imposed based on objectives relevant to punishment (i.e. deterrence and retribution) and/or wholly on speculative predictions of “safety and security” concerns.

29) Wherefore Plaintiff respectfully requests this court order Defendants to redress each punitive condition within each paragraph herein, further that this court order the defendant to base any

1 future denials of property in accordance with CCR Title 9 §§880-884 and to refrain from using 2 objectives founded in punishment and speculative assertions to "safety and security" issues.

3 30) Plaintiff also requests this court order the defendants review each property item which is 4 currently and/or has been denied to date. Then if such denial is found to have been implemented in 5 violation of CCR Title 9 §§880-884 or is based on the elements of punishment, that denial be 6 vacated and the property be allowed.

7 31) Plaintiff further request the court order Defendant to update their treatment program that is at 8 least within the standards found in SOCCPN or any other comparable research as to treatment 9 standards. Open up ancillary groups immediately and never close them. Order the Defendants that 10 they have a constitutional mandate to first provide treatment effectively and within some 11 recognized standards and everything else comes second.

12

13 VIII. Demand For Trial By Judge

14 Plaintiff hereby requests a trial by judges due to the potential inflammatory and prejudicial facts 15 that may arise in trial. So much that it would hard to get an impartial jury.
